Signs of the End

DDay 1: God's Presence and Faithfulness in the Midst of Brokenness

Even as the world around us seems to fall apart—whether through personal loss, global turmoil, or the collapse of things we once held dear—God promises to be with us. Jesus assures us that our suffering is not the end of the story; He walks with us through every trial, using even our pain and loss for a greater purpose. When we face moments where everything we've built seems to crumble, we are invited to trust that God is still at work, redeeming and restoring in ways we may not yet see. [52:20]

Luke 21:16-19 (ESV)

"You will be delivered up even by parents and brothers and relatives and friends, and some of you they will put to death. You will be hated by all for my name's sake. But not a hair of your head will perish. By your endurance you will gain your lives."

Reflection: What is one area of your life that feels broken or uncertain right now? How can you invite Jesus to walk with you in that place today, trusting that He is present and working for your good?

Day 2: Redemption Is Drawing Near—Hope in the Return of Christ

When we see chaos, wars, and suffering in the world, Jesus calls us not to cower in fear but to lift our heads in hope. These signs are reminders that our redemption is drawing near, and that Jesus will return to make all things new. Rather than being overwhelmed by despair, we are encouraged to live with anticipation, knowing that the end of the story is one of victory, restoration, and eternal life with Christ. [59:16]

Luke 21:28 (ESV)

"Now when these things begin to take place, straighten up and raise your heads, because your redemption is drawing near."

Reflection: When you hear troubling news or experience hardship, what would it look like for you to "straighten up and raise your head" in hope today?

Day 3: God Brings New Life Out of What Falls Apart

Sometimes God allows things we love—even things we've poured our lives into—to be torn down. Yet, in His wisdom, He often uses these endings to bring about new beginnings, growth, and blessings we could not have imagined. When we grieve what is lost, we can also look for the new life God is bringing forth, trusting that He is always working for the good of those who love Him. [56:14]

Isaiah 43:18-19 (ESV)

"Remember not the former things, nor consider the things of old. Behold, I am doing a new thing; now it springs forth, do you not perceive it? I will make a way in the wilderness and rivers in the desert."

Reflection: Is there something in your life that has ended or changed unexpectedly? How might God be inviting you to see the new thing He is doing through it?

Day 4: Forgiveness and Freedom at the Cross

No matter what mistakes, sins, or failures weigh on your heart, Jesus has already carried them to the cross. There is nothing too big for His love and forgiveness. You are invited to bring your burdens, regrets, and shame to Him, trusting that He has overcome them all. In Christ, you are forgiven, set free, and given a new start—today and every day. [56:55]

1 John 1:8-9 (ESV)

"If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Reflection: What is one sin or regret you have been holding onto? Take a moment to bring it honestly to Jesus in prayer, and receive His forgiveness and freedom.

Day 5: Sharing the Good News in a Broken World

As followers of Jesus, we are not only recipients of His grace but also called to share His love and hope with others. Even as the world groans and people search for meaning, we are sent to proclaim that Jesus has overcome the brokenness and offers redemption to all. The harvest is plentiful, and God has placed people in your path who need to hear and experience His love through you. [01:00:19]

Matthew 9:37-38 (ESV)

"Then he said to his disciples, 'The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest.'"

Reflection: Who is one person in your life who needs to hear or experience the hope of Jesus? How can you intentionally reach out to them this week with Christ's love?
